

Well integrity and abandonment issues may be the most challenging non-revenue generating exercise a company deals with. For small companies, it can strain balance sheets and impair corporate sustainability. The challenge is real and was the reason for creating the Well Integrity & Abandonment Society (WIAS).

The WIAS currently boasts of over 140 active members and meets on a monthly basis in the concerted effort to reduce the costs associated with well integrity and abandonment interventions.

This package contains information on the advertising and sponsorship opportunities available to your company through this collaborative and interactive industry society. Take a look and see how you can showcase your company.
